

SHARED FACILITIES OF NSTAR ELECTRIC COMPANY'S TRANSMISSION FUNCTION AND MARKETING FUNCTION EMPLOYEES

NSTAR Electric Company's only marketing function employee and its transmission function employees share an office building located at One NSTAR Way, Westwood, Massachusetts 02090.

The transmission function employees are linked electronically via a Local Area Network ("LAN"). The marketing function employee does not have access to any shared drives or other shared computer resources on NSTAR Electric's computer network that contain data considered to be transmission function information. Access to such drives is restricted via group accounts which specify the users who are permitted access. Access to the OASIS is further restricted via password to only two OASIS administrators.

Further, NSTAR Electric's system control center is located at a completely different physical location than its marketing function employee. Additionally, access to the system control center is restricted via key card access to employees of NSTAR Electric involved in performing transmission reliability and operations functions. Computer databases for the transmission function are password protected and are separate from those for the marketing function employee.