

Prepare Your Home for Winter Comfort Through Weatherization

The crisp fall air is here and it's the ideal time to get your home ready for winter. Weatherizing helps create a cozy indoor environment and can lower your heating and cooling costs by up to 20 percent.

Benefits include reduced drafts, improved air quality and humidity control, less outside noise, fewer allergens and a lowered risk of ice dams.

Participate in Home Energy SolutionsSM and, for a $75 co-pay, receive a home energy assessment, on-the-spot upgrades and up to 75 percent off approved insulation improvements. On average, participants receive $950 in services and save up to $180 annually.

Fall into Savings: October is Energy Awareness Month

As the leaves turn and colder weather approaches, prioritize energy savings. Below are tips that can help keep you cozy for less:

- Harness the Autumn Sun – Warm your home by opening blinds and drapes on southern- and western-facing windows during the day to help reduce heating needs
- Fall into Savings with a Heating Upgrade - Receive $750 for a qualifying energy-efficient natural gas boiler or $650 for a qualifying furnace. These upgrades boost your comfort at home and reduce energy costs. Install by December 31, 2024, to qualify for rebates. Note: Natural gas incentives end December 31, 2024
- Pre-Winter Prep – For a $75 co-pay, enroll in Home Energy SolutionsSM and receive up to 75 percent off approved upgrades like insulation. Plus, you could qualify for additional rebates on energy-efficient appliances and more
