

Enhance Your Winter Comfort with Weatherization

December has officially brought its chilly embrace and you might have started to notice pesky drafts sneaking into your home. Now is the perfect time to weatherize—not only to create a warm, inviting atmosphere but to also reduce your heating and cooling costs by up to 20 percent.

A no-cost Home Energy Assessment can help you discover opportunities to save energy and be more comfortable in your home. You may qualify for insulation upgrades, 0% financing opportunities and other incentives.

Call 866-527-SAVE (7283) to speak to a representative about weatherizing your home today.

Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard customers should visit capelightcompact.org.

Embrace the benefits of a well-weatherized home:

- Reduced drafts
- Improved air quality
- Decreased outside noise
- Lowered risk of ice dams

A New Beginning in New Bedford

In the early 90s, Joao and Julia Temoteo moved from Portugal to the U.S. and bought a multifamily home in New Bedford, where they now live with their extended family.

After years of rental tenants, the third floor apartment required updates due to drafty windows and temperature fluctuations. Their daughter Grace and her husband Albert signed up for a no-cost Home Energy Assessment, which revealed air leaks, outdated wiring and inadequate insulation.

Following the Energy Specialist's recommendations, the family completed upgrades—including wiring remediation, air sealing, insulation and ventilation—within four months.

After qualifying their income for enhanced incentives, they enjoyed 100 percent off the costs and are estimated to see $1,000 in energy savings each year.

“As teachers we don’t have a lot of discretionary income, so we are grateful to Eversource and RISE for providing this service. The level of professionalism provided throughout the process was so exceptional that I have already encouraged others to look into it. After 12 years, I am excited to finally enjoy every room in our apartment!”
